

Wisconsin Archaeology in Public Education

The Wisconsin Archeological Society is offering a $2000 grant for projects that promote public education in Wisconsin.

Applicants can be schools, museums, historical societies, libraries, communities, state or federal institutions and other organizations.

Projects must promote Wisconsin Archaeology. Examples include presentations, teaching aids, community oral interviews, traveling exhibits, museum exhibits, and outdoor interpretive signs.

Deadline for applications
September 30, 2024

We encourage applicants to contact Cindi Stiles at cydstil@newnorth.net to discuss their project prior to applying.

For more information and to apply, go to the WAS website <http://wiarcheologicalsociety.org>, click "Awards and Grants" and access the "Public Education Grant" page. Download the "Guidelines and Application" which will instruct you in everything you need to do to apply.

Applicants must be members of WAS for their project to be considered. To become a member, go to <http://wiarcheologicalsociety.org>
