

THE CHANGING FACE OF WISCONSIN DAIRY: Latino Labor Aids Western Wisconsin Dairy

Geography Seminar Series Spring 2006

Wednesday, 19 April 2006
4:00 p.m. -- Phillips 281

Presentation and Discussion by:

John Rosenow, innovative and progressive local Wisconsin dairy farmer

&

Shaun Duvall, director of Puentes, a program dedicated to building bridges between Latino employees and their western Wisconsin employers and communities.

Come and learn about the creative and valuable links between western Wisconsin and rural Mexico. Hear about the local and international opportunities and obstacles in this developing relationship and its critical contribution to Wisconsin's milk-related economy.
